2.17.12 Change of Duty Station or Special Leave

Absence from campus or the home work location for a period of more than two weeks while carrying out university-approved activities is called a change of duty station or special leave. A change of duty station may be approved in instances such as grant responsibilities, opportunity of a prestigious fellowship in residence at another institution, or similar activities of benefit to the individual faculty member and the university. Approval of the provost or senior vice president and chief business officer, depending upon the reporting structure, on recommendation of the department head or chair and dean (or appropriate administrator) is required when such absences involve salary payment by university general funds, either in full or in part. Such authorization is usually not granted for longer than one semester. The host institution, agency, or sponsored project is expected to make a significant contribution toward the cost of the faculty member’s salary and/or benefits. The provost or the senior vice president and chief business officer determines whether a change of duty station involving institutional salary support or leave without pay is appropriate to the circumstances.

2.17.12.1 Change of Duty Station

A change of duty station may be approved in instances where a faculty member would be hosted by another institution or organization and undertake activities such as grant responsibilities, opportunity of a prestigious fellowship in residence at another institution, or similar activities of benefit to the individual faculty member and the university. Approval of the provost or senior vice president and chief business officer, depending upon the reporting structure, on recommendation of the department head or chair and dean (or appropriate administrator) is required when such absences involve salary payment by university general funds, either in full or in part. Such authorization is usually not granted for longer than one semester. The host institution, agency, or sponsored project is expected to make a significant contribution toward the cost of the faculty member’s salary and/or benefits. In certain circumstances, the provost or the senior vice president and chief business officer determines whether a change of duty station involving institutional salary support is appropriate. The provost or the senior vice-president and chief business officer determines whether a change of duty station involving institutional salary support or leave without pay is appropriate to the circumstances.

Change of duty station requests for temporary remote work, where the faculty member is not affiliated with another institution or organization, may be approved on a very limited basis. Faculty members who are approved for a change of duty station for temporary remote work are expected to fulfill all assigned responsibilities including teaching, research and scholarly work, outreach, and service. Change of duty station requests for temporary remote work are usually not granted for longer than one year.

2.17.12.2 Special Leave

A special leave may be approved in instances such as grant responsibilities, opportunity for a prestigious fellowship in residence at another institution, or similar activities of benefit to the individual faculty member and the university. Approval of the provost or senior vice president and chief business officer, depending upon the reporting structure, on recommendation of the department head or chair and dean (or appropriate administrator) is required when such absences involve salary payment by university general funds, either in full or in part. Such authorization is usually not granted for longer than one year. The host institution, agency, or sponsored project is expected to make a significant contribution toward the cost of the faculty member’s salary and/or benefits. In addition to Special Leave, Study-Research Leave and Research Assignment Leave are available to tenured and continued-appointment faculty, and are described in detail in section 3.8, 3.9, 4.8, and 4.9 of this handbook.
